“ What sad news it was for me to hear of Jamin's untimely passing. He was a bright, beautiful child, who brought joy to so many dear family members. I can't imagine the pain being felt by Angel, Simeon, Brian and Rebecca, his parents, as well as his grandparents and great-grandparents in Mississippi and Florida. God bless you all, and God speed Jamin to a better place. He will be missed, and remembered by many friends and family. I was fortunate to meet Jamin on 3 occasions during visits to my hometown in Florida, and loved seeing and sharing in his enthusiasm and joyful personality. He had a contagious and energetic smile. May he rest in peace.

(PS: The service, the tribute video, the live webcast, and the supporting webpages provided by Coleman Funeral Home are first-rate, and I commend you for this effort. The Jason Foundation also seems to be a caring and leading charity that deserves support.)

“ When Jamin first came into our the family he was but a small child. It was Christmas and the family was all about. We had just finished opening gifts. He came to me a little while later and gave me a hand full on coins. He told me that he hadn't been able to get me a gift but that he wanted me to take the money and get myself something. I never did buy anything. Instead the eighty three cents is in my jewelry chest where I have kept it for the last sixteen years. It will remain there to remind of the sweet little boy that gave it to me.

I will sorely miss Jamin and I don't believe I will ever get over his untimely death. May God be the family and friends of Jamin during this time of sorrow.

“ Dear Angel and Family,

Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted. Matthew 5:4

“When parents die, their children are called orphans; when a spouse dies, the remaining partner is a widow or a widower; but when a child dies, the English language has no word for the parents who are left behind. This is the loss for which even our language is unprepared. It goes against the natural order. It strikes at our very identity as parents, for our job was to give life, and then to nurture and protect that life. This is a loss too terrible to bear, too immense to move forward. We cannot believe that life will ever again hold hope or joy. And yet Christ’s promise as strange and impossible as it may seem, His happiness will be ours, for He will give us the courage and comfort even in the midst of sadness. We do not know how to go forward, but we do not have to know. He knows.” (Sanna, 2012).

As the stepmother of Jamin, I want to thank you for bringing Jamin into my life. He was THE BEST thing that ever happened to me. He will forever be in my heart. My thoughts and prayers are with you and your family. I am truly sorry for your loss.

“ Angel, Brian, Simeon- as parents of Jamin, I just cannot even begin to know what you're feeling as you say good bye to your son. My heart is broken; I'm weeping with you. We will miss Jamin tremendously, and we are fervently praying God's peace and calm for your family during this devastating time. Love you so much. Jamin, rest easy in Jesus's arms, my darling.
