She also enjoyed spending time riding in the country, dancing, listening to country music, singing karaoke, watching western TV shows, and visiting the casinos now and then. Going to local thrift stores and neighborhood yard sales also brought her joy. Jerry Mae had a very thoughtful and caring personality. She was faithful to remember special occasions and the holidays. “ From Terry Potts and all the Potts family. We all spent our childhood in Barton on a beat up gravel road with no name, in the country, with the Millers and the Ernest's. As children it was heaven to us. We were all growing up with Danny. We spent most of our time outside, but our homes were our sanctuaries and our moms were our guardian angels. I remember fondly the times we spent in the little green wood house that Author built for Jerry May and Danny. It was the first new house that any of us had ever experienced. I remember how proud of it she was and the joy she had decorating it and how she enjoyed having us over. She always made sure we had a good breakfast and lunch and always a large pitcher of kool-aid. She was a beautiful and caring woman and her love and concern for Danny was always overwhelmingly apparent. She loved all of us and always made us feel welcomed, warm, and appreciated.
As many years have passed and miles have kept us apart we still carry the fond memories of our time with her. And we always will.
We love you Jerry May.
