“ Joe was a mentor to so many of the students in the School of Pharmacy, Camp Meeting and St Andrews Methodist church, or people he met . He was the acting Dean of the Ole Miss School of Pharmacy when I graduated in 1970, I first met Joe when I came to Ole Miss in 1967. and started working in Bureau Of Pharmaceutical Services . “ Joe was a friend and good man. He was a tremendous asset to Ole Miss in the Pharmacy Department for many years and a much respected man in the Oxford community. I enjoyed being in Joe's company and the many enlightening conversations one would always benefit from when talking with Joe. My condolences to the family.
