“ I miss most our morning phone calls to go over the agenda for the day. Pete was usually the first person I spoke with everyday. I keep having to tell myself everyday to not call Pete cause it’s always my first instinct in the morning. Pete was also there for me so much when I found out that my youngest son was autistic. He was a rock for me at a time when I really needed that support. He was always there to give me info on what to expect because of his experiences. His wisdom on that subject was vast, it was only surpassed by his love for his son Andrew! That love showed at all times! We all miss you a lot.

“ My heart is hurting so bad. We go back 33 yrs and had just reconnected in January of this year. I had been so excited to see where life might take us after so long but God had other plans. I have so enjoyed our talks and trips down memory lane. Loved you Pete, and love that awesome son, Andrew too. Andrew, Tammy and Ebony, I'll be here if or when you need me. My heart is breaking but it's breaking for y'all too. Be Blessed My Loves.
