Rashmi was born on April 10, 1955, in Lusaka, Zambia. She was an amazing wife, mother, and grandmother. She loved her family more than life itself. Her grandchildren were her pride and joy. Mrs. Patel was one of the kindest and sweetest souls you would ever come into contact with. She always made others around her feel comfortable and welcome; she never met a stranger. She is survived by her husband, Jayantilal Patel of Southaven, MS; her son, Anup Patel (Samantha) of Gallatin, TN; her daughter, Rula Patel of Southaven; her grandsons, Collins and Connor Patel, both of Gallatin; six sisters; one brother; and a host of nieces, nephews, and many other extended family members.

Rashmi was preceded in death by her parents, Bapubhai Patel and Chanchalben Patel.

Memorials may be made in honor of Rashmi Jayantilal Patel to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital at www.stjude.org.

“ Rashmimasi,

I wanted to take this time to remember and thank you for giving Sonal, Jina and I some of the most memorable summers growing up. At times you hosted at least ten nieces and nephews, always ready to whip up some of the best pancakes in the morning or your finest Mexican dishes at night. (I think this is where I realized I loved Extra Sauce, just like Anup). Masi, you enjoyed the smaller things in life, like the time we were sitting on the small patio in Penn Yan just after a rainstorm. You thought it would be fun for Anup and I to splash barefoot in the last remaining puddle before it had dried up. You pulled out a camera, took a couple of pictures, and started laughing in that distinct laugh that all Chanchal Ba's daughters have.

Masi for 10 years you have fought, won, and fought some more. You didn't give up this fight – Bhagwan just knew you were meant for so much more. He needed your Strength, Courage, Devotion and Self-Discipline like Hanuman.

Words cannot describe how I've dreaded this day but I'm so glad I was able to spend time with you in June. Your strength kept me strong, as I knew at that moment that I wasn't going to see you again in this life, but I would always remember you. You will be my calm after the storm, and if I see a puddle, I'll always give it a little splash and smile.

*Jai Shree Krishna with love,
Ambrish*
